

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1744.

Rome, August. 30.

It is impossible to express the Civilities shewn by his Highness, Prince Lobkowitz, to General Mariani; who was so well entertain'd during the few Days he remain'd in the Hands of the Austrians, that he has written a Letter full of Acknowledgments; and his Highness has also receiv'd another from the Count de Gages, on the same Subject.

The late Affair is now pretty well clear'd up, and a very perfect Account of the Engagement publish'd here, too long to trouble you with at present. According to this Account, the Spaniards lost Lieutenant-General Count de Benfont, and 70 Officers, kill'd, with 617 Soldiers; Lieutenant-General Mariani, 60 Officers, and 388 Soldiers, made Prisoners. On the other Side, the Pesants at Veletri have certified the burying 474 Austrians, who were kill'd in the Town, the Bodies of at least 1000 more lie expos'd upon the Mountains; 800, who were left wounded, are in the Spanish Hospitals, where they are extremely well taken Care of; and besides these, there are Major-General Novati, 18 Officers, and 753 Soldiers Prisoners. Upon the whole, it is not easy to say who had the worst of it; but, without Question, there was more Blood spilt, than Advantage gain'd on either Side.

Laghorn, August 28. His Sardinian Majesty having taken a settled Resolution to endure all Extremities, rather than desert the common Cause, has order'd one of his Gallies, that were here, to repair to Oniglia, in order to take on board some Jewels, and other valuable Effects, which are to be transported to a Place of Safety. We have lately discovered, by some intercepted Letters, that his Catholick Majesty has no longer any Regard to the Neutrality of this Duchy, but proposes the Conquest of it by a Scheme, of which our Regency are now Masters; the finding out of which, will, very probably, give a new Turn to the Affairs of Italy. For, in the first Place, the Troops of his Serene Highness, our Grand Duke, will immediately march to join Prince Lobkowitz; and, in the next, it is thought the English Squadron will be very soon employ'd in the Bombardment of a certain famous Sea Port.

Turin, August 29. His Majesty is still in his Camp at Saluces, where he manages the War, as much as may be, in order to save his Troops, till they are joined by the Austrians, and by the Hungarians especially, from whom we expect good Service. The King sees his Country ruin'd indeed, but it is very far from being lost. The cold Weather is drawing on; the Spaniards feel and deplore it; if the Snows do but begin to fall before Coni is taken, they must abandon Demont, and think of retreating the Alps. The Prince of Conti is so sensible of this, that he, not long ago, wrote a very polite Letter to the King, by an Ecclesiastick, in which he propos'd, that the two Crowns should undertake the Treaty of Worms in its utmost Extent, and reimburse his Majesty the Expences of the War; but the King, far from listening to any Terms of this Sort, has given Orders for levying 12,000 Militia, that he may reinforce his Army with the like Number of Regular Troops, and then proposes to march directly towards the Allies, in order to force them to raise the Siege of Coni, by giving them Battle; which, in the present Situation of Affairs, must infallibly oblige them soon to quit this Country, and return into Dauphiny, which is almost eat up already. It is inconceivable how great an Effect his Majesty's Constancy has upon all his Subjects, who bear, with invincible Patience, the Miseries they suffer; and think of nothing but the Means of revenging them; as soon as an Opportunity shall offer, which they expect with the utmost Impatience.

Paris, September 15. We have already seen one extraordinary Effect of his Majesty's Illness, in the unfurnishing, at Versailles, three Ladies Apartments; viz. those of the Duchess de Chateauroux, Madam de Launegais, and Madam de Flanacourt. We flatter ourselves, that this will be followed by some Changes of greater Consequence at Court; because, it is apparent, the King's Mind is greatly alter'd, from an Order that arriv'd here lately, for interring, privately, the Body of Cardinal de Fleury, at Ici; and there is no farther Talk of building his magnificent Tomb. We find, by the last Advices from Germany, that the Treaty of Union, at Franckfort, is like to beget a Confederacy in Germany; and, to our great Amazement, the Electors of Mentz, Cologne, and Trier, are to be the first in that Confederacy; and amongst them, are to furnish the Queen of Hungary, and her Allies, with 24,000 Men. All the publick Letters from Metz agree, that his Majesty recovers as fast as can be expected, or wish'd; but some Persons, who are return'd from thence, tell us quite the contrary; viz. that his Pulse is low and febrile, that he takes a great Quantity of Bark every Day, and that he has very restless Nights.

Hague, September 19. General Prætorius, who arriv'd here lately from the Army of the Allies, is preparing for his Return thither; and it is said, carries with him a Scheme of Operations, and Orders to execute them with Vigour. It is likewise reported here, that the Army will be shortly reinforc'd with 20,000 Men; and that the Maritime Powers will soon send a strong Squadron to destroy the Enemy's Colonies and Trade in the East Indies, pursuant to a Plan drawn up for that Purpose, by a Person of great Eminence here.

An Infallible CURE

For Barrenness in Women, and Impotency in Men,

By Superlative ENLIVENING DROPS;

Which in a few Days render both Sexes Prolifick in a most wonderful Manner.

Hundreds of Ladies who were deem'd incapable of bearing Children, have immediately conceived after taking three or four Doses of them only; and vast Numbers of GENTLEMEN by taking them, have presently become capable of propagating their Species, who before, thro' either Imbecility or Age, imagin'd it impossible.

They almost instantly renovate the vital Ferment of the Blood and Juices, rectify the languid State of all the Fluids, rouse, fortify, and increase the Spirits, invigorate the Nerves, restore juvenile Warmth, and cause a sparkling Gladness and ardent Courage to flow in the Heart, and expand itself thro' the whole human System, so as sensibly to enliven and invigorate all the animal Faculties, and corroborate or strengthen the whole Body, as well as the Part appropriated to Generation, and do infallibly cure Barrenness in one Sex, and Impotency in the other, from what Causesoever proceeding, as Thousands have experienced.

They are also pleasant to take, are Cordial to the Stomach, create an Appetite, and procure a good Digestion, beyond any thing known in the World. And are to be had only at Mr. RADFORD's Toy-shop, at the Rose and Crown against St. Clement's Church-Yard, in the Strand, Price 5 s. the Bottle, with Directions.
